Description

An English deep seated country house armchair of large proportions, very much in the manner of the Howard and sons Ivor model. It has all the feature comforts and style minus the stamped leg. This is a period c1900 chair and is in good solid order and only requiring upholstery.

The casters had been changed to modern plastic wheels at some point and have now been changed back to modern made brass casters from a 19th century original cast.

We do use a network of traditional upholsters so if you would like the upholstery doing by us please get in touch.
